Husband:	John Scott
Burial:	Holmes Cemetery, New Adena, OH
Occupation:	Farmer

Notes

BIRTH: Tombstone in Holmes Church Cemetery near Adena, OH. The death certificate of one of his sons given John's birth place as MD, but Cousin Elizibeth had it in OH.

DEATH: Tombstone in Holmes Church Cemetery near Adena, OH. In addition, an account of John's tragic death in a run-away buggy accident was reported in the Steubenville Weekly Herald, 26 Sep 1860, Vol. 54, No. 46. Probate of John's Estate: Jefferson County, OH, Inventory of Estates No. 10, p 494-501. Notice published in the American Union of Oct 1860.

BIOGRAPHY: Father, William Andrew Scott, came to Iowa from Ohio with his Mother and Step-Father, John Johnson, about 1864. William Andrew's own Father, John Scott, was killed in a buggy accident in Adena, Ohio, in 1860, leaving his Mother, Susanna Daugherty Scott, a widow with seven children. Within a few years, the wife of a neighboring farmer, John Johnson, died, leaving him with seven children. On 7 April 1863, Susanna Scott and John Johnson, had what Cousin Faye Scott Witt called "a merger, and then they had 14 children." Six of Johnson children, and five of the Scott children came to Iowa with their parents in 1864. The deed records in Marshall County show that John Johnson bought land in LaMoille, Marshall County, from John Hayne (Susanna's brother-in-law) and Thomas Hayne, brother of John Hayne, on 29 March and June 21, 1864.

BIRTH: Dates of birth for all but Angeline, were listed in Jefferson County records, Vol 2, Guardian Records, pages 205, 206, and 207 [General Files #2393 to #2395]

DEATH: William had diabetes. A carbuncle formed, and when it was lanced, he did not survive. His funeral services were held in the M. E., Church in Danbury, IA. He is buried in Ida County Cemetery. "Ida County soils is good enough for me" was quoted from his son, J. Orien Scott, 20 Aug 1875.

BIOGRAPHY: J. Orien Scott developed dates and places for all of his brothers and sisters. Also, Cousin Clara Scott Lacey has a paper written by Estella showing some facts. Father, William Andrew Scott, came to Iowa from Ohio with his Mother and Step-Father, John Johnson, about 1864. William Andrew's own Father, John Scott, was killed in a buggy accident in Adena, Ohio, in 1860, leaving his Mother, Susanna Daugherty Scott, a widow with seven children. Within a few years, the wife of a neighboring farmer, John Johnson, died, leaving him with seven children. On 7 April 1863, Susanna Scott and John Johnson had what Cousin Faye Scott Witt called "a merger, and then they had 14 children." Six of Johnson children, and five of the Scott children came to Iowa with their parents in 1864. The deed records in Marshall County show that John Johnson bought land in LaMoille, Marshall County, from John Hayne (Susanna's brother-in-law) and Thomas Hayne, borther of John Hayne, on 29 March and June 21, 1864.

William Andrew Scott came to farm in Danbury on the 80 acres which he bought from the Railroad Land Company, in 1882. William then bought an adjoining 80 acres from his Brother, John Wesley Scott. After Father William Andrew died, Mother Estella Scott moved to Ida Grove in 1908, so the youngest boys could go to High School (J. Orien and Homer).

His granddaughter, Clara Mae Scott Lacey, and other members of the Scott family still belong to and are active in the Methodist Church in Danbury.
